Honeybear Brands Says Pear Imports Begin March 1

Bartlett and bosc pears from the Southern Hemisphere will run through June 1.

Honeybear Brands says its fresh-picked crop of bartlett and bosc pears from the Southern Hemisphere will begin hitting retailer shelves in early March, with the season set to run through June 1.

Chuck Sinks, president of sales and marketing at Honeybear Brands, says that with harvest in Chile and Argentina beginning in late January and February, this means promotable volumes will begin shortly after as domestic storage begins to lose momentum, which he says creates a clean handoff. That means retailers avoid gaps while produce maintains quality, and there are strong promotable volumes without interruption.

“South American pears come online at exactly the moment U.S. domestic supplies begin to taper off. Washington storage fruit typically reaches their quality and volume limits between late February and early March,” Sinks says. “As controlled atmosphere rooms are opened and inventories wind down, retailers often see increasing pressure on condition, sizing and consistency.”

FEATURED BUSINESS: WE ❤️ OUR CUSTOMERS!

In appreciation for their patronage, each week we feature a different business. We encourage our customers to check out and support all of those that we service!

SUPPORT LOCAL BUSINESSES!

Named for brothers Luca and Santino, Lucatino is built on a simple Roman truth: the best things in life are created together

We've reimagined the classic Italian tavern for the modern table. Our space is designed for connection, featuring a menu of shareable focaccia boards, small plates, and bowls of pasta meant to be passed around. Pair it with a bottle of wine and have an experience that is effortless, lively, and never fussy.
