Thanksgiving dinner costs dip again, survey shows

Seven items for the holiday spread dropped in price this year, such as sweetpotatoes and a vegetable tray of carrots and celery, according to the annual American Farm Bureau Federation Thanksgiving dinner survey. The cost of the Thanksgiving feast is down for the second year in a row, according to the 39th annual American Farm Bureau Federation Thanksgiving dinner survey.

The classic Thanksgiving spread for 10 will run shoppers $58.08, down 5% from last year but still up 19% higher than five years ago. For one week each year, volunteer shoppers from all 50 states and Puerto Rico visit their local grocery store or a local store's website to survey the prices of items used in a typical Thanksgiving feast, according to a news release.

Since 1986, the volunteers have collected price data on turkey, cubed stuffing, sweet potatoes, dinner rolls, frozen peas, fresh cranberries, celery, carrots, pumpkin pie mix and crusts, whipping cream and whole milk.
